Chamber Music Festival

Guildhall's Summer Chamber Music Festival returns for a weekend of inspiring performances from some of the School's most accomplished chamber groups and student-professor collaborations featuring renowned performers from the chamber music faculty.

This year's programme features music across the centuries, from Purcell to Kapustin, taking in works by lesser known and more neglected composers such as Roussel, Tailleferre, Coleridge-Taylor and the Ukrainian composer Valentyn Silvestro, alongside established masterpieces by Mozart, Brahms and Tchaikovsky.

What is Functional Analysis?

“All conceptual thought about music is a detour, from music via terms to music, whereas functional analysis proceeds direct from music via music to music.” Hans Keller
