GUILD
HALL SCHOOL

WELCOME

Guildhall School is a vibrant international community of over 1,000 musicians, actors, and production artists. As one of the world's leading conservatoires, we are training our students to light up screens, stages and concert halls across the globe and empowering them to become artistic citizens who make a positive impact on the world. The success of our alumni in film and television, international music venues, theatres and community arts projects is a testament to the intensive training they receive at the School.

Guildhall Patrons make a significant difference to what the School can achieve by providing crucial funding for a variety of our activity. By becoming a Patron, you will be supporting strands of specialist training and expert masterclasses, the upkeep of the state-of-the-art equipment in our performance venues and teaching spaces, a vital programme of unique community outreach projects, and much more.

Through your involvement, you will be building a closer relationship with the School and our internationally renowned teaching staff, and joining a friendly community of fellow supporters. To thank you for being a Patron, you will be invited to exciting events and other opportunities to engage further with our work throughout the year.
